

EMS Outreach & Communication Award 2010

The European Meteorological Society announces:

The EMS Outreach & Communication Award 2010.

The EMS Outreach & Communication Award is given in recognition of projects that explore new and effective ways to communicate the science of meteorology, climatology and related fields to the general public. The projects may deal with the results or the consequences of science, and may also be targeted at a more specific audience. In particular, project teams will be considered for the award, but proposals of individual initiatives are also welcome.

Proposals

Projects or candidates may be proposed by:

1. EMS Member Societies, EMS Associate Members and individual members of EMS Member Societies.
2. Individual members of the EMS Council and the Media Team.
3. Individual members of the select committee.

Documentation

The documentation required for the proposal is a description of the aims of the project and a plan how these are to be achieved. An example of the realisation (a presentation, video of a presentation etc) will have to be included in the documentation and, in addition, a short description of the background of the project team (members) will be required.

Please submit any proposal in electronic format to awardapplication@emetsoc.org

no later than 30 June 2010.

Audio or video material may also be sent to EMS, c/o Institut fuer Meteorologie, FU Berlin, C-H-Becker-Weg 6-10, 12165 Berlin, Germany, but care should be taken of file size and compatibility of platforms. The material must be received before 30 June 2010.

A trophy will be presented to the Laureate(s) during the Media Session of the 10th EMS Annual Meeting & 8th European Conference on Applied Climatology in September 2010 in Zürich, Switzerland.

The documentation of the project will be published as an example of Best Practice on the EMS Internet Site.
